HAPP, Erl

I am descended from Charly Happ that signed the Eureka petition in 1853, councillor at 24, always an entrepreneur, rag to riches employer, working aged 79, not for money but fun.

Too few have too much, investing unwisely. Innovation and larrikinism are in decline. Regulation proliferates.

A mortgage for life destroys families. A house that is transportable and self-servicing should not require a permit. Grandfathers have building skills. Start with a 2 by 1. Living in nature is better for children. Average in UK is 56 square meters.

Rural landowners should be incentivised to rent land for houses in low density bush. We should enjoy nature, rake in hand, managing the risk of fire.

For ease of access, we need highways free of bottlenecks. We must think long term, inclusively.
